Q : 4 [A] Read the following passage carefully & answer the questions that follow. 04

To say the truth, nothing is more erroneous than the common observation that men who are ill-natured and quarrelsome when they are drunk, are very worthy persons when they are sober: for drink, in reality, either reverses nature, or creates passions in men which did not exist in them before. It takes away the guard of reason, and consequently forces us to produce those symptoms which many, when sober, have art enough to conceal. It heightens and inflames our passions, (generally indeed that passion which is uppermost in our mind) so that the angry temper, the amorous, the generous, the good humoured, the avaricious, and all other dispositions of men are in their cups heightened and exposed.

Q. Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow :

- (a) Drinking takes away .....
- (b) Drinking heightens .....
- (c) People when they are sober have the art to conceal .....
- (d) The passion that is inflamed most is the one .....
